GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND COUNTESS BESSBOROUGH HERE ON TUESDAY NEXT

Reception to Vice-Regal Party at Ten in Morning

A telegram was received by His Worship Mayor Somers Tuesday evening, advising him that the date of the visit to Wetaskiwin of His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, and Her Excellency, the Countess of Bessborough, had to be changed from October 3rd to Tuesday of next week, September 20th. This change was necessitated on account of the opening of Parliament on October 6th.

This change of dates hastens the completion of arrangements for the ice Regal visit, and the committees are now working at top speed and will have everything in readiness on Tuesday morning next.

The proposed program is as follows:

Enter auto cars in waiting and drive to the steps of the front entrance of the Court House.

Brownlee, Premier of the Province, will be in attendance to officially welcome the distinguished visitors. An invitation is extended to all children in the country adjacent to Wetaskiwin to come in for the occasion and join in the festivities.

His Worship Mayor Somers has proclaimed a holiday from the hours of 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., which will enable all citizens to join in giving the Vice Regal party a truly western welcome. All citizens are requested to decorate their homes and places of business for this occasion.

Town Topics

H. C. Cooke made a business trip to Calgary the fore part of the week.

E. C. Janse arrived in town a few days ago to look after his farming interests in this community.

The City Council will sit as a Court of Revision on Thursday evening of this week, when fifty-two appeals will be considered.

The many friends of Beryl Gilchrist who was operated on a few days ago for appendicitis, are glad to know that she is convalescing nicely.

The friends of Miss Eva Walker regret to learn that she underwent an operation for appendicitis a few days ago. It is reported that she is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Sweeney of Vermilion, and Arthur Ward of the Ponoka district, were summoned home on Tuesday, owing to the serious illness of their father, D. A. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Darby of Edmonton, are spending a few days at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Thompson, on their return trip from Calgary and Banff.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Finch returned a few days ago from Calgary, where they accompanied their daughter, Eleanor, who is attending Normal there.

In the Lux Window Contest held recently, the Safeway Stores Limited and Aboussay & Sons, were successful in winning prizes. The pictures were taken by C. W. Wain of the Wain Studio.

Geo. L. Owen, who has followed the racing circuit this summer, is expected to return home before the end of the month. He had a couple of horses which we understand made a good showing this season.

The implement dealers did a very good blinder business this season. One agent informed a Times representative that the demands for the business conditions a couple of years ago.

Threshing is well under way in this district, and we are informed that the returns are quite varied. Returns show that there is a shortage of grain, which is disappointing, while other areas where light crop was expected are turning out better than anticipated.

FARMERS' POSITION SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—The individual farmer of the Canadian west, due to his own industry and resourcefulness, is in a stronger position today than he was a year ago, according to R. L. Burnap, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, in charge of traffic, who has returned from an extensive business trip through Western Canada.

Mr. Burnap attributes this improvement to the fact the farmer has succeeded in cutting down his production costs, and is, therefore, doing business on a sounder economic basis. This year's crop was sown and is being harvested at less cost than any previous crop, Mr. Burnap concluded.

PROVOST FARMER SHOOT'S GRAY RAT

One more wild animal to be added to the fauna of Alberta is the gray rat. Recently one of the men on the farm of Martin Thomson, north of town, reported seeing one and a few days later, a careful watch having been kept in the meantime, Mr. Thomson ended his career with a charge of duckshot.

It is about twenty years ago since the advent of the rodents into Manitoba, and every year since, specimens have been noted further and further west. Where they are common, the ordinary gray rat is considered one of the most expensive pests that afflict the community, and while it is probably impossible to permanently stem the invasion of Alberta by these rodents, the attempt is well worth while.—Provost News.

Mixing coal with oil for fuel purposes, the object being to increase coal consumption, is pronounced, a success in England.

On account of the visit of His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, and Her Excellency, the Countess of Bessborough to Wetaskiwin on Tuesday morning next, His Worship Mayor Somers has proclaimed a holiday from the hours of 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. which will enable all citizens to join in the hearty welcome which will be extended to the Vice Regal party.

Death occurred suddenly on Tuesday morning at his residence, 513 Fifth avenue west of James Alexander Dixon, who had been employed for the past 25 years as a Canadian Pacific Railway conductor. Mr. Dixon was about 60 years of age.

The late Mr. Dixon was born in Huntsville, Ont., and moved to Calgary two years ago from Wetaskiwin, where he had resided for a number of years.

MRS. SCHOLZE

Another of the oldtimers passed away at her home at Newberry, Ore., on August 11th, at the age of 66 years and 10 months, in the person of Catherine Dorothea Pape Scholze. She was born Sept. 25th, 1865, at Bergkamp, Hanover, Germany.

After the death of her husband, she came to living fellowship with the Trinity God through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. At the age of 14 years she was confirmed in the Lutheran Church. At the age of 19 she immigrated to the United States.

August 1885, she was married to Adolph Scholze at El Dorado, Iowa. Here she and her husband lived four years, then moved to Dayton, Oregon, where she lived several years. They then lived for 19 years in Sheridan, Ore., and 18 years near Wetaskiwin. Four years last May deceased left to make her home in Newberry, Ore. Her greatest longing, however, was to come back to Canada.

She left to mourn her loss her husband, Adolph Scholze, at Newberry, Ore., and the following sons and daughters: Ernest Scholze, at Sheridan, Ore.; Mrs. Phillips, Sheridan, Ore.; Henry Scholze, Wetaskiwin; Emma Scholze, Newberry, Ore.; Mrs. Reissner, Sherwood, Ore.; Mrs. Parker, Santa Monica, Cal.; Mrs. Mittelstadt, El Dorado, Iowa; Peter, Ernest, Diederich and Paul Scholze, all at El Dorado, Iowa, eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren also mourn her loss.

She suffered much in her life, but bore it all uncomplainingly, in faith and hope and Christian trust in the will and ways of the Lord.

The funeral services were conducted August 13th, and her body was laid to rest in Pleasant Hill Cemetery there.

DELIGHTFUL BAND CONCERT ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

On Sunday afternoon last, the Wetaskiwin Citizens Band gave a most enjoyable and profitable concert in the new park. A large number of the citizens assembled for the occasion, and were delighted with the various numbers rendered by the band, and the general comment was that this organization was one of the best bands ever assembled in Wetaskiwin. Owing to the inclement weather, the program was considerably abbreviated, and the following numbers only were given:

1. "O Canada."
2. March, "Inveigall."
3. Overture, "Mignonette."
4. Waltz, "Smiles and Roses."
5. March, "Militaire."
6. Serenade, "Twilight Echoes."
7. March, "Luckawana Band."
8. Waltz, "Blue Danube."
9. Overture, "Bandmen's Delight."
10. March, "Colonel Bogey."
11. "God Save the King."

The band is under the able leadership of Dr. W. E. Janzen, with E. Dickau as assistant conductor, and the following is the personnel: Drums—C. Kolb, F. Atkinson, M. Merner.

Baritone—Messrs. Miller, Wilson, Tenor—W. Hodson. Alto—S. Griffiths, G. Grigaly, B. Biddinger.

Trombone—H. Chandler, R. Smith, C. Munn, E. Hodson. Clarinet—C. Grigaly, F. Hodson. Cornet—B. Hodson, Thin, B. Sheelher, H. Switzer, W. Orr, A. Smith.

The Band has several instruments not in use, and the request is made that any musicians in the community desirous of joining the Band are requested to see Dr. Janzen, the conductor, so that these instruments may be used.

Buy Made-in-Alberta Goods; End Depression

Mr. Howard Stutchbury, Alberta Trade Commissioner, and Mr. A. C. McKay, secretary Alberta Retail Merchants Association, were the principal speakers at the meeting held at the Grand Hotel Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was one of a series constituting a campaign being conducted in the province, which is endorsed by the Provincial Government, the Women's Institute, the U. F. W. A. and several other provincial organizations. H. J. Montgomery, M.L.A., occupied the chair.

Mr. Stutchbury spoke at some length and emphasized the fact that the people of this province have a great responsibility to perform, and if Made-in-Alberta goods were purchased instead of those manufactured outside of the province, the question of unemployment would dissolve. Unemployment raises taxes as well as raises the cost of doing business.

Statistics compiled by Mr. Stutchbury, Mr. McKay said, reveal that if every purchaser in the province purchased Alberta-made goods, 5,151 additional people would be employed in Alberta factories.

Mr. Stutchbury estimates the proportion of new labor that would be employed in the industries as follows: Hosiery and knit goods, 1,376; overalls and mackinaws, 360; candy, 450; paint, 425; laundry soap and cleansers, 75; pottery, 150; canned vegetables, 450; hats, 200; women's dresses, the price range now made in Alberta, 450; spices and coffee, 125; biscuits, 200; sugar, 900.

Every time we buy goods made in a foreign country, we are buying employment in that country, while on the other hand, if Alberta goods are purchased, we are assisting to employ Alberta labor.

At the conclusion of Mr. Stutchbury's address, garments manufactured by the Emery Manufacturing Company and the Great West Garment Company, were displayed by Wetaskiwin girls, as models, who walked around the platform.

Mr. McKay stated that there were no politics in this movement, but it was rather an endeavor on the part of the Retail Merchants Association to solve unemployment in this province, and thereby remove the depression. The money spent for relief must be paid by the people in taxes. If Alberta manufacturers put on the market goods equal in quality and price to those imported from other countries, our goods should be given the preference.

Charity begins at home, and every citizen should assume his or her responsibility in building up the business of this province. By creating markets for farmers' products at our very door, we assist in the development of the cities in Alberta, and this can be done by purchasing goods. This also assists in solving the problem as to what our boys and girls will do when they are compelled to work. Twenty-four carloads of packaged cheese came into Alberta last year. This condition should not exist in this dairy country.

What they were advocating was not narrow buy-at-home policy. He believed the war was a lesson in philosophy, but if, for the sake of national expediency, governments found protection against foreign competition necessary, and the majority of the people backed them (Continued on Page 4)

Kiwanians to Put Clinic in Hospital

Arthur McArthur, who gave a very interesting talk on his experiences at the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, was greeted by a large number of Kiwanians at their weekly luncheon on Tuesday evening. Arthur described very vividly several of the attractions in the Parliament Buildings, and had brief conversations with many of the prominent statesmen who attended the conference, and referred very entertainingly to several incidents which had taken place.

"My trip to Ottawa took four days and it gave me an idea of Canada's vast size. My traveling companion was Ted Fraser, a Sea Scout from Calgary, and our uniforms created attention, so that everyone tried to show us the best time possible, for which we were very grateful."

"Ottawa, we found, has wide, mapleshaded streets, while the parliament buildings are something to which pictures cannot do justice. The three wonderful buildings (Continued on Page 4)

United Church Dedicated Sunday Last by Dr. Tuttle

A long cherished hope of a building more commodious and suitable to their needs was at last fulfilled this summer to the friends and members of the United Church. The opening and dedication took place at the Sunday morning hour of worship with a large audience in attendance. Rev. Dr. Tuttle, Principal of St. Stephen's College, was asked to dedicate the building. He delivered a thoughtful, earnest address, in which he reviewed the current phases of religious thought, and pointed out the supremacy of Jesus as a revealer of Truth applicable to these very troublous days.

During the evening service, which was a combined one with St. Andrew's as the visiting congregation, Rev. C. J. Mackay delivered a very thoughtful discourse upon Jesus as one greatly misunderstood. Members of St. Andrew's choir united with the First United Church choir, providing a most excellent rendering of numbers suitable to the occasion.

The church building has been greatly improved by changing the form into that of a cross, with the right and left transepts being fitted

Good Crop Is Expected to Give Alberta Better Times

Due to the heavy crop in the province, Alberta farmers will liquidate more debts and obligations this year than last, and will have more money to spend on necessities because extravagant expenditures have been cut out, although the extent of the advance will depend upon the price, the Edmonton Journal has learned in a canvass of managers of trust, mortgage, loan and implement companies. In general the situation will be better than the past and these concerns find the outlook encouraging.

The manager of a trust company speaking generally of the area north of Red Deer said that with a fairly good crop, the situation will be better than in the past couple of years. A certain amount of money is already in on collections, more is promised, and the outlook is encouraging.

Farmers will have cash to pay some of their commitments and will retain some for living expenses, which money will pass into circulation. The acceptance of reduced payments on crop agreements in certain cases will have some effect on collections, he added.

"Farmers will meet their commitments to the extent of their ability—will do all they can for they want to pay—but they will not catch up with maturing obligations. There is not much in farming at present price levels. The crop, however, will put money in circulation. How much there will be to spend will depend much upon the trend of wheat prices." That summed up another view, also from a trust and loan company.

Even with present prices this crop will mean a lot of money in circulation, said the manager of a loan company.

"The farmer has said, 'I have got a good crop anyway.' The morale of the farmer is not broken down, except in the few cases where he is a misfit," he declared.

"The farmer will be able to liquidate every bit as much of his obligations as last year, and in many cases more. To what extent he will have any surplus spending money is problematic, perhaps only 10 per cent of them will be in that happy position."

"An alarming feature of the whole situation is taxes. In the past there was not enough pressure brought to bear and these have piled up. An anxious moment has arrived and many will have to pay all they can get their hands on to save their homes."

Premier Bennett's Reply Re. Unemployment Relief

Reported comments by Premier Bennett at the conference with western provincial and municipal representatives in Calgary indicate pretty clearly that proposals for the handling of relief for all single unemployed men by the federal government will not be accepted. It was hoped that the nature of the problem and the seriousness of the situation would so impress the prime minister that he would rise above constitutional technicalities and agree that the necessary national emergency does exist. Mr. Bennett admits that "the Dominion government has treated unemployment as a national emergency," but adds that it cannot change the constitution of the country to meet demands for unemployment relief outlined in resolutions presented by the western provinces. Mr. Bennett declares that requests presented at this conference would require a change in the constitution, but that this could not be done without the consent of every province.

On the other hand the prime minister announces that "free traveling by unemployed transients on Canadian railways is to be stopped." The edict, which will be enforced by the railways and the R.C.M.P., is to go into effect on September 30 unless the four western provinces ask for an earlier date. This means that the distribution of "drifters" as it exists at the end of the month is to be maintained in great measure. There may be a rush of men to get out to the coast before the end of the month once the news spreads. Or there may be some movement on the roads after that date. But it can be accepted that the numbers of unemployed now in Alberta, including those who are but temporarily employed in the harvest fields, will be maintained at the present level.

The west is convinced that relief for single men requires centralized authority and administration. Stopping "drifting" is not a solution. The west is not yet convinced that Ottawa has not the powers necessary for really effective co-operative action. The Relief Act, 1932, provides that "the governor-in-council may, on such terms and conditions as he may see fit, and notwithstanding the provisions of any statute or law enter into agreements with any of the provinces respecting relief measures therein."

All four western provinces are united in their unemployment relief demands. In spite of the apparent rebuff by the prime minister they must continue to press their case. If it is impossible to turn the whole problem over to Ottawa, there is still the hope afforded by Mr. Bennett's assurance that full consideration will be given certain requests including those for increased financial assistance. Co-operative effort by the west is not yet ruled out.—Edmonton Journal.

ARE HOLIDAYS HEALTH BUILDING?

A gentleman of authority, speaking recently, was giving it as his opinion that after their summer vacation children return to their classes "exhausted in body, lowered in vitality, and thoroughly unorganized socially, intellectually, and to some extent morally." Which seems to prove that children aren't much better than grown-ups after their vacations. Bare view one would like to find out whether the childish gentleman knew whereof he spoke.

It is the vacation time that gives the youngsters a chance to get acquainted with all sorts of universes within our own, with birds and bugs and plants and trees, with the waves roll in, and how to build a raft. It gives the lucky ones a chance to try out their own modes for living, freed from the regimental orders which must be part of the formal education. Robinson Crusoe lives again and the Spanish Main awakes once more—often on the most innocent looking ponds.

It is vacation time that gives the children their chance to walk hand in hand with sunshine and work out their own vivid inner life, a precious part of education. Of course all education is a risk, including education. But it is worth it.—Yorkton Enterprise.

The extra seat, reported to be on the list for Alberta in a redistribution bill coming down at the next session of the Federal Parliament, probably will be created in Northern Alberta.

COMMUNICATION

[We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this or any other correspondent under this heading.—Ed.]

Crossfield, Alta., Sept. 8, 1932.

Dear Editor:

The article, appearing in one of your recent issues, regarding election costs in constituencies where Cabinet Ministers were elected, tells only half the truth which is worse than a falsehood and very misleading. As the same article appeared in several of the weekly papers, I am convinced that the writer is nothing more than a propagandist; I would, therefore, like to give you the balance of the facts.

I would like to know why, in his comparisons, the writer omitted to mention Cypress and Okotoks-High River, also represented by Cabinet Ministers. The costs were higher in fifteen constituencies than they were in Cypress and in twenty-six were higher than in Okotoks-High River. The cost in the Provincial Treasurer's constituency was not the highest, as Coramotion, a single member constituency, was $113.00 more than Vermilion. Counting the cities, Vermilion stands fourth in cost. Camrose seventh, Lacombe eleventh, Cypress sixteenth and Okotoks-High River twentieth-seventh, all represented by Cabinet Ministers.

The cost of an election includes the fees and mileage of a Returning Officer in each Constituency. There in each polling place there is rent, a D.R.O., Poll Clerk, and an Enumerator, plus mileage for same. Sometimes a Constable and an Interpreter is necessary. There is also the printing of ballots and proclamations. The total cost varies from $45.00 to $90.00 for each poll according to conditions. For example: St. Paul and Wetaskiwin had approximately 3200 voters each and 60 polls each, but the cost was $600.00 higher in St. Paul than in Wetaskiwin.

The size of a constituency or the number of voters does not, necessarily, determine the number of polls. For example: Athabasca one of the largest constituencies, had only 49 polls, whereas Wetaskiwin, considerably smaller, had 60 polls. Also Wetaskiwin had nearly 3200 voters for 60 polls, whereas Didsbury had over 3200 voters for 31 polls. A Constituency that embraces a number of hamlets, villages or towns, requires less polls per population and less cost in enumerating than a thinly settled one.

The convenience of the voters, taking into consideration the natural boundaries and geographical conditions, (are the "major" requisites) in placing the polls, and this is done mostly by Mr. John D. Hunt, of Edmonton, who is the chief electoral officer of the Province.

As your writer dealt particularly with Vermilion and Vegreville (no doubt to suit his purpose) I will give you the figures of these Constituencies, but the same answer will apply to his other arguments. Vermilion had 90 polls, whereas Vegreville had only 35. Multiply the difference by the cost of each poll and you have your answer. So while the number of polls, to a large degree, determines the cost, the cost has nothing to do in determining who is elected. All election officers are paid the same rate no matter what constituency they may be in.

His last statement proves his apparent lack of knowledge in Provincial affairs, because election costs are not capitalized but paid out of current revenue. The 1930 election cost was reduced about one third from the 1921 cost, and perhaps he had that in mind and was trying "The Red Herring Effect."

I trust I have not taken up too much of your valuable space, but I felt sure you would appreciate the whole truth.

Yours very truly,

THE HIGH COST OF NEGLECT

These are the days when it seems to be the vogue to spend as little money as possible. We do not recommend a gross display but we do contend that many people are carrying thrift to the point where they are denying themselves needlessly. Such economy indicates poor judgment and in the end will prove expensive.

We can think of no saving quite as absurd as that effected by neglecting, necessary professional care. This applies to the care of the teeth; the care of the eyes, and the care of the general health yet millions of people who are not destitute and who can afford to buy the necessary professional service are so imbued with the idea of economy that they are now neglecting this all important subject.

Every automobile owner knows that the neglect of little things in connection with his car often leads to large bills for repair. Had the little things been cared for when they first appeared the bigger things would not have developed. The same principle applies in our care of the human body. A ruined auto can be replaced, but if we neglect little matters in our health and dangerous physical disorders later develop, there is only one course to pursue that is to repair the condition as quickly and as completely as possible. Thousands of expensive operations, long stages of illness, physical ailments, breakdowns of every kind are developing every day, because the victims failed at some previous period to give their bodies the reasonable care they would give a good automobile.

The Canadian Bar Association meeting in Calgary declared that if transients were permitted to move from place to place, a new criminal class would be developed.

"I Feel That The Bank of Montreal Has A Distinct Personality"

Said an old customer of the Bank recently: "In my opinion a bank has a personality just as positive and distinct as that of an individual."

The personality of the Bank of Montreal, created by its founders and perpetuated by their successors, is reflected in the substantial character of the clientele the Bank has drawn to it, and expresses itself through more than 600 Branches, which are so many points of contact with the people and the commercial life of Canada.

The elements which have gone into that intangible but very real thing—the personality of Canada's oldest bank—include the Bank's unwavering strength and conservatism, its helpful, efficient service, and its thorough knowledge of local conditions wherever it is represented.

HUNTING SEA LIONS

Victoria, B.C.—Lion hunting (sea lions) in Canadian waters is a yearly necessity in order to protect the salmon fisheries off the coast of British Columbia. The annual hunt is carried on by officials of the Canadian Government Dept. of Fisheries at the Pearl and Virgin rookeries, west of Victoria Inlet in the Skeena district. This year over 1,000 sea lions and pups were destroyed on these two rookeries when the hunt was carried on last June.

The purpose of these annual hunts is not the extermination of the sea lions; the hunts have been undertaken for some years, but the lions are still numerous—too numerous for the good of the salmon fisheries. The purpose of not to exterminate the herds but to keep them within reasonable limits in numbers and thus to protect the salmon resources. Just how much these resources mean is indicated by the fact that, in normal times the value of the production from the British Columbia salmon fishery may be as much as $16,000,000.

WALKING ON BANANA SKINS

Walking on banana peels may not be as slippery a process as it sounds when a factory at Montego Bay, Jamaica, begins producing shoe soles, among other slippery products made from banana waste.

This waste, which now is burned with fibre from the sisal plant, which grows in Jamaica's dry plains, will be used to manufacture brown paper and a form of tough cardboard. From the cardboard will be made the shoe soles and many other articles now made of leather.

DO PEOPLE READ FREE SHEETS

Every now and then a merchant or a group of merchants finds a way to beat the newspaper by printing advertising sheets of various kinds. In some cases they save money. But the trouble is that these sheets are only about twenty per cent as efficient as the newspaper. The remarkable part of it is that the first issue or two will seem effective and productive and will cause enough comment so that the merchant is delighted with his idea. But this is a logical effect and is due entirely to the fact that the sheet is something new. Being new, people will look at it once or twice or perhaps three times; after that they will not open it simply because they know it is all advertising or patent copy and there is no incentive outside of the advertising.

Comparing the free sheet with the regular newspaper, there is no comparison. The merchant entirely overlooks one thing and that is the vital thing—reader interest. There is nothing to interest the reader in the free sheet, unless that reader is interested in bargains. To prove this, let us suppose a newspaper and a free distribution sheet are lying side by side. Which one will any normal person take up to read? Can there be any question?—Exchange.

Doctor's Advice to His Critics

I am a doctor. I manage somehow to read a little and I note in the magazines many more or less violent assaults on the inadequacy of the medical profession. It might be interesting to a layman to hear a suggestion from the other side.

There is, I fear, a shocking ignorance among laymen of the limitations of medicine. You ask of us the impossible and get irritated when we cannot deliver, but you apparently never look about you. Don't doctors get sick like anybody else? Don't their own parents and brothers and wives and children die just like ours? My own mother has been sick ever since I could remember and I am 39. My father has high blood pressure. I, myself, suffer from migraine (sick headaches), and have had appendicitis, influenza, mastoiditis, rheumatism, and a few other things. Why do I stand for all this nonsense? Why don't I ease out the medical profession? Because I know what are the boundaries of their knowledge and I know that they are doing the best they can.

There are so many things in medicine which are very vaguely or imperfectly understood; nobody understands cancer, chronic nephritis, myocardial degeneration, and other such capstans of the men of death. Nobody has any adequate proof of the cause of rheumatic fever, influenza, measles, common colds. With few exceptions the whole range of endocrine disturbances is in a very unsatisfactory condition. The same applies to nervous and mental diseases. And so it goes. I could fill a page with an enumeration of conditions before which we are ignorant or helpless.

From this you may conclude that medicine is in a medieval condition. But you are wrong again. As a matter of fact, medicine is making astounding progress and I would hesitate to set any limit to what may ultimately be accomplished. I base this statement on the actual record of solid achievements in the past. My great-grandfather was a doctor of a sort, but he never went to a medical school. He was a blacksmith who pulled teeth and bled people. My great-grandfather was a doctor and graduated from a Class A school in 1821. He bled, he blistered, and he pulled and he purged, and this was about his armamentarium. He didn't even have ether or chloroform.

My grandfather was a doctor and graduated from a Class A school in 1857. Bacteria were unknown. His appendicitis patients died of "cramp colic" and "locked bowels." He didn't know that tuberculosis was communicable. He did not have a fever thermometer.

My father was a doctor and he graduated from a Class A school in 1884. Diphtheria was rampant and deadly and so was typhoid fever. He did not have vaccines for them, nor thyroid extract nor adrenalin, nor pituitrin. Blood transfusion was unknown. He didn't even have an x-ray. Radium had not been discovered. He did not have local anesthetic. He could not even take a blood pressure. Pathological and clinical microscopy were just beginning. He didn't know that yellow fever was transmitted by mosquitoes, nor had he heard of hookworms.

I am a doctor and graduated from a Class A school in 1920. I did not even have insulin for diabetes, nor liver extract for pernicious anemia, nor scarlet fever serum, nor the malarial treatment for malaria, nor a host of other things. Insulin and liver extract, for instance, are both veritable epics in man's struggle against disease. The public, fed on mass production, wants an epic, a week at least.

Even if doctors knew the exact diagnosis and the proper treatment they might still be helpless. Every day my hands are tied and I am reduced to impotence by things over which I have no control. The doctor advises an operation; the patient refuses. What can the doctor do? Nothing. Patients will not follow a prescribed diet; they will not even take their medicines; not infrequently they will ignore the attention whatever to any advice given them. They object to adequate examination; they resent questioning; they lie in giving histories.

But that is only the beginning of the trouble. Even if the patient is perfect, can he pay for proper care? In a shocking proportion of cases the answer is "no." As medicine has become better and more extensive in diagnosis and treatment it has become more expensive. As it entails more appliances and better facilities, the cost increases. My great-grandfather's patient with an acute appendicitis probably got a purgative and a mustard plaster—which cost him little except his life. My patient is operated on and restored to health—for perhaps $300. But suppose he does not need $300 or even $2.00. What is he to do? I have sweat blood over that question many a time.

It is outrageous that a sick man should be turned away from a hospital simply because he has no money? But is there anything unique in this? Aren't hungry people turned away from restaurants? Aren't ragged people turned away from clothing stores? It is outrageous that I should refuse to treat some people and only half-treat others, but what else can I do?

The problem here is not medical, but social and economic. The solution will come through some form of state medicine. This word is anathema, of course, to all right-thinking doctors. Nevertheless, 50 years from now, I believe that the majority of them will be on a salary. There will always be private doctors and hospitals, just as there are private schools. But most children go to public schools; and most poor sick people in the future will go to tax-supported hospitals.

Then, of course, a doctor makes his money. Let us not be too hasty. It is preposterous to think that 150,000 men selected at random should all be scientists and artists. They are not. The average doctor is a trailer—a camp-follower, who contributes nothing to medical science but merely tries, according to his lights, to apply what other men have found out. This latter work is done by a numerically negligible percentage of the profession; indeed many of them are not even in the profession. Pasteur was a doctor at all. In the average telephone lineman a Steinmetz, or the average power house attendant an Edison? The outlook of the average ordinary doctor is no more akin to that of Dr. William Welch or William Osler than the physical outlook of a lowly catfish paddling around in a mudhole is akin to that of a bald eagle soaring in the empyrean. Personally, I'm one of the catfish, and I can testify that the hole is crowded.

But even the close contact and the muddy water, as you are not blind to the virtues of my companions. On the whole they are not a bad set of men. I know of no men who work harder to put themselves out of business. The medical profession has waged relentless war to prevent disease and improve the public health. As it noted, in passing that in this they have fought almost single-handed and have put such measures into effect against the determined and even violent resistance of the very public they were trying to help. You do not see this then go and read the history of the struggle for compulsory vaccination, the segregation of communicable diseases, the sanitary disposal of sewage and waste, and a hundred other things.

Just give us time. And remember that 300 years ago we did not even know that blood circulated!—Readers Digest

Prohibition in the Home

I had twelve bottles of whisky in my cellar and my wife made me empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink, so I proceeded to do as my wife desired and withdrew the cork from the first bottle, poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdrew the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with the exception of one glass which I drank. I extracted the cork from the third bottle, emptied the good old booze down the bottle, excepting a glass which I devoured.

I pulled the cork from the third sink and poured the bottle down the glass when I drank some.

I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, and threw the rest down the sink.

I pulled the sink out of the next cork, and poured the bottle down my neck.

I pulled the next cork from my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the cork.

Well, I had them all emptied and I staided the house with one hand and counted the bottles which were twenty-four, so counted them again when they came round again, and I had seventy-four and as the house came round I counted them and finally I had all the houses and bottles counted and I proceeded to wash the bottles, but I couldn't get the wash in the bottles so I turned them inside out and washed and wiped them all, and went upstairs and told my other half all about what I did, and Oh! Boy! I've got the wifist little nice in the world.

Mental Health

As individuals we differ mentally just as we do physically. Parents accept, as a matter of course, the fact that one of their children is physically stronger than another, yet these same parents will, in general, refuse to recognize the fact that one of their children is mentally below the standard of the others.

There is in the public mind an idea that there is something disgraceful, something to be hidden in the fact that the mental equipment of one member of the family is below the average. The occurrence of mental disease is by many regarded as evidence of a stain on, or a reproach to the family. This attitude can be explained on the basis that we commonly view with horror or with superstition those things which we do not understand. It is not so long ago that all disease was considered as a punishment for sin, or due to the activities of evil spirits. With an understanding that physical disease was due to natural causes, such ideas gradually disappeared. However, many persons still cling to the old idea concerning mental disease.

Although our physical and mental capacities are unequal, we can, by making the best of what we have, enjoy physical and mental health. We cannot all attain to the same degree of health, but nearly all of us can secure a measure of health which will bring happiness to ourselves and those around us.

Health is that condition of well-being which enables us to live happy, useful lives. It means that we are able to adjust ourselves to the work we have to do, and to live in harmony with those around us.

Physical and mental health go hand in hand. What good is it to have a strong body and a quaverous disposition? If life is full of fears and loneliness what happiness is there? Such individuals are not healthy, because their early training has not brought them to face and understand the actual conditions of life.

Health is the product of a proper development of the whole child, physically and mentally, so that as he grows up he will have an understanding of himself and others which will enable him to meet the problems of life and to live happily with other people.

The mental life is not as readily understood as the physical life. It requires more study and thought on the part of parents, if they are to give their children a fair chance for a happy, useful life. What the child will be as an adult is not so much the result of the body and mind he was born with as it is the product of his early training by his parents.

FIRE CLAIMED 26 LIVES IN ALBERTA IN 1931

During 1931 a total of 2,067 fires in Alberta claimed 26 lives and material loss of $3,131,725, according to the annual report of Henry Brace, provincial fire commissioner, submitted on Wednesday to Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer and minister of lands and mines.

Material loss in 1930 totalled $3,113,350, which was about $1,000,000 less than the loss suffered in 1929.

In his report, Mr. Brace points out that it is encouraging that the increase was not greater in view of prevailing conditions.

In all there were 113 fires of suspicious character investigated, resulting in 36 charges and 20 convictions.

Among these investigations was into the fire at the Adventist College, Lacombe, which resulted in the sentence of two culprits to serve penitentiary terms.

The number of investigations carried out this year has been exceeded only in two previous years.

Inspection work has been actively carried on. In all there were 914 cities, towns and villages inspected with a total of 908 orders given for compliance with regulations.

As yet there are no figures available on the 1932 situation.

KNOWN ADVERTISED BRANDS ARE BEST

The Canadian family lives on advertised merchandise—more today than ever before—and tomorrow will demand the better-known brands even more insistently than today.

Why? Because, in the first place, merchandise must be mighty good to stand the pitiless scrutiny of an entire country—and stay on the market. Indifferent or poor merchandise cannot possibly face the required test, and is out of the race long before national distribution is secured.

And Canadians are busy people. Their weekly newspaper supplies them with "what to buy" as well as the news of the day, and is a most convenient and comfortable medium of education, entertainment and exchange of ideas.

The merchant of today who tries to stay in business and ignore advertised merchandise has a hard time and wonders why his business does not prosper. It never will—for what he makes in large profit from an unknown brand he loses in wasted effort in trying to sell it to people who really prefer something well known.

"I have finally stopped trading with the — store," is often heard these days. "They seem reluctant to sell me what I call for and are forever trying to sell me something I know nothing about or on which they make a larger profit, I'm through."

How many times a day this is said by men and women would be interesting and instructive to the retailer who is trying to "sweep back the sea" of advertised brands. — "The Retail Merchants' Globe."

I had known about Burdock Blood Bitters being a good blood purifier so got a bottle, and after using half of it the boils and carbuncles were checked of more growth, and by the time I had taken part of the second one I was completely relieved and have never been bothered since."

In the account of Pendry Fair sent in last week it should have been mentioned that in the "Better Babies Contest" ten babies, ages ranging from a few months to two years, were entered. The baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Siegel captured first prize, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown's son a close second. During the judging of exhibits, the children indulged in races, games and so on.

Mrs. Stretton of Pendry, was a guest of Mrs. Taylor on Monday last. Rev. Mr. Coffee and Mr. Ross, of the Church of England, spent last week in this vicinity. While here they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Husband.

Miss Lenore Husband left Sunday to take up her duties as principal at Wenham Valley school.

HAULTAIN U.F.A. LOCAL

A Wheat Pool meeting under the auspices of the Haultain U. F. A. Local was held last Wednesday evening in the Haultain school. Three speakers addressed the meeting, Mr. T. T. Jevne, Wheat Pool delegate for this district; Mr. Lew Hutchinson, Wheat Pool Director, and Mr. Gratton.

The more important subjects dealt with by the speakers were the 1929 overpayment and its recovery out of ordinary elevator earnings, the policy of the Pool in holding the 1930 carry over until the market will allow a payment of 60¢ a bushel, the possibility of the Pool doing its own financing, and the form of contract to succeed the current one which expires in July, 1933.

Interesting questions and discussion followed the addresses, which in turn were followed by pie and coffee.

A good crowd was out. The school affords more convenience as a meeting place since a porch was built this summer.

SEE BINDER AT WORK FOR THE FIRST TIME

Scores of Indians, small boys and grown-ups of The Pas in northern Manitoba, recently gathered around a quarter-acre plot near the C.N.R. station and watched with rapid interest as harvesting operations were carried on. A battered, rusty old binder, apparently a relic of early farming days in Western Canada, went around the small plot of land seeded to oats, followed by most of the youths of The Pas who had never seen one in operation. Indiana marvelled at the speedy cutting of the machine as it staggered and rattled around the field. Up to this time the fastest they had seen was hand-cutting with a scythe.

Miss M. I. Nelson, R.R. No. 3, Milton, Ontario, was appointed teacher of the small school at Mineral Springs. Her name was selected from a veritable deluge of applications, numbering more than 400. Miss Nelson's qualifications were considered to be outstanding as she holds a first-class certificate and is prepared to give her pupils tuition in elementary education, vocational training, physical training, religious knowledge, music and agriculture. She had prepared a number of classes which had been very successful. Her salary was $650.

Another cargo of 240,000 bushels of wheat, No. 2 Northern is being loaded on the S.S. Grethead at Churchill and is being consigned to the Spillers Mill, Cardiff, Wales.

GOVERNMENT NOT BUYING ANY WHEAT

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—There is no evidence of government buying of wheat to keep wheat prices steady, according to prominent grain men interviewed here today. Reports were current that government dealers were lifting surplus wheat to prevent the market being unduly depressed.

The Winnipeg market is being supported 100 per cent by Chicago and foreign houses, traders said. There is no sign in the pit of government liquidation. The market has been taking considerable quantities of wheat, due to the marketing of the new crop.

NORMAL SCHOOL ENROLLMENT UP

With registration at the three provincial normal schools on Wednesday, the date of opening of the fall term, a total of 833 students have enrolled for instruction in the school year, according to figures released on Thursday by the department of education.

Of the total 289 are at the Calgary school, 257 in this city and 137 at Camrose. Expectations are that the total will be boosted to 700 before the term is long underway.

Last year the three schools commenced with a total of 652 and ended with 642.

Swift justice as meted out to two strangers in town on Wednesday afternoon of last week. After receiving assistance in the way of food at one house, one of them decided to help himself to a leather windbreaker at R. D. Essery's residence. He was seen taking the coat by Mr. Essery's son, Bobby, who informed Corporal Buchanan who soon had the pair in custody. They were immediately brought up before Magistrate Young who found one guilty of theft and the other guilty of receiving stolen property and sentenced them each to two months at Fort Saskatchewan. The whole thing from theft to sentence transpired in the space of about twenty minutes.—Leduc Representative.

NATURALIZATION OF "REDS" BARRED

Calgary, Sept. 13.—People who think the system of government in Russia better than that in Canada had better not get naturalized but go over there, Mr. Justice Tweedie told applicants for British naturalization papers in supreme court chambers, Monday.

"We will not tolerate agitation against the government of Canada unless in accordance with lawful methods," his lordship continued.

The first feeling that people should have when seeking British nationality is one of pride in being subjects of one of the greatest nations the world ever knew," he declared.

His lordship put a Russian applicant for naturalization through a strict examination before agreeing to recommend that he be accepted as a British subject. He only did so after the applicant declared that he had no correspondence with relatives and friends in Russia in respect of communism, and did not agree with the form of government in Russia.

Mr. Justice Tweedie refused naturalization recommendations to two of the more than 20 applicants before him.

up, he was willing to defer to the wisdom of the majority. If this trade-in-the-home-market policy was good national business, it was equally good provincial business. The special business in Seattle, San Francisco and other places, how other communities boosted for home trade.

The final point emphasized was that our local manufacturers had accepted the challenge of the big national business. By any reasonable test, goods made in Alberta would be found to compare quite favorably, in quality and price, with those from a distance. People got into the habit of buying much-advertised goods, largely because of the clever advertising behind them; but an impartial test would show our own product to be fully equal to the "imported model."

Among the firms whose products were advertised on attractive show-cards around the room were: Canadian Building Company, Tuxedo Coffee and Spice Mills, Gainers Limited, Blue Willow Goods, Edmonton Paint and Glass Company, Royal Crown Products, Sops & Cleaners, La Cora Cigar Factory, Golden Leaf Cheese, Rosebud Flour Mills, Independent Biscuit Company, Emery Manufacturing Company, Claymold Products, Caldwell Knitting Company, Smithbilt Hats, Great West Garment Company, Nurmair Creamery Buttery and Others.

Premier Bennett invited us to dine with him, and he spoke to each one separately. Later we were shown through the Chateau Laurier and swam in its wonderful swimming pool.

On August 1 and 2, I was on duty at Rideau Hall, the governor-general's residence, and there saw how Canada's royalty really lives. This was as great an honor as it was a pleasure, and I am glad and proud to say that I was on duty under His Excellency Lord Bessborough.

During the other days I was an usher and a messenger at the Parliament buildings, except on Saturdays and Sundays which were visitors' days when we acted as guides to the visitors. In the evening I helped to form guards of honor at such affairs as the gala concert, and the archives reception.

At the latter I saw most of the celebrities, and there also I saw the smiling and hearty handshake between Hon. Mackenzie King and Premier Bennett.

We slept in the wonderful, big and new scout headquarters and dined for the most part at Karson's. I came home via the Great Lakes with another scout from Saskatoon and we certainly had a wonderful time, in fact, too great to describe.

Home after that was sweet, but the fellow who wrote "There's No Place Like Home" had never been to Ottawa I am sure.

The Club unanimously agreed to install a clinic in the new hospital, where all the children of the city and country will be given an opportunity of having examinations free periodically by the doctors and dentists of Wetaskiwin. The equipment of this clinic will be the very best that can be procured, and this department will be one of the features of the hospital.

A contribution of $50 was also authorized to assist the Wetaskiwin Post Canadian Legion in the erection of the War Memorial which is now under construction.

Edmonton, Sept. 9.—There will be no increase in tuition fees at the University of Alberta, said Dr. R. C. Wallace, president, when informed of the decision of the University of Saskatchewan to raise fees for arts and science courses by 100 per cent.

INDICATIONS SEEN PANIC HAS PASSED

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The Canadian Bank of Commerce in its monthly news letter made public Thursday night saw in rising security prices evidence of a period of reconstruction ahead.

"A few important developments," the letter said, "would seem to indicate that the period of panic has passed and that one of reconstruction is ahead."

While the letter laid much of the general improvement to international action leveled at the forces of depression it added conditions throughout Canada showed signs of recovery in themselves.

Recovery of sentiment in the west, improved crop conditions and prospects over those of last year and the willingness of Canadian financial institutions to back sound expansion of business, it said, promised greater activity.

RADIALS WIN OVER PONOKA BY 5-0 SCORE

Edmonton, Sept. 12.—Edmonton's Radial Rovers carried their way into the provincial final of the Alberta Challenge Cup soccer competition on Saturday afternoon when they jogged to a 5-0 triumph over Ponoka, Central Alberta champions, in the Northern elimination playoff at Diamond Park.

Led by the front-line stars, Pugh and Brown, the local squad proved too powerful for the Ponoka team that had brushed aside all opposition in its own district.

INCREASE OF BIG DUCKS NOTED IN NORTHERN AREAS

Edmonton, Sept. 10.—There will be very little wrong with the game and bird season in Alberta this year from the true sportsman's point of view, according to provincial game authorities. In the first place there is a big increase in mallards.

Hunting in the earlier northern season, which opened September 1st, did not reach gamey proportions and the 15th will see plenty of ducks in good fat condition owing to the fact that they have been into the grain fields a couple of weeks earlier this year than last.

Migration has started from the north and reports are that there will be somewhat of a scarcity in the smaller species, though a big increase in mallards.

Use of live decoys is no longer being permitted, this step being taken by the provincial authorities in line with their general conservation policy. Permits for the pre-season killing of ducks doing damage to crops are limited to residents and their families living on their own land, and city sportsmen are not allowed to do the shooting for them.

With respect to the general prospects for game, hunting there will be splendid moose and deer hunting this season in the territories west of Red Deer and Edmonton and in the northern districts.

Hungarian partridge are reported to be plentiful in all parts of the province, and a two-month open season during October and November has been set for these birds. Prairie chickens are numerous in many localities, and shooting will be permitted for one month in the northern area, and for two weeks in the south.

LIFE SAVING CAUTIONS ARE ISSUED BY GAME BODY

With the opening of several hunting seasons and with others to open shortly, more than 7,000,000 hunters in Canada and the United States will go off in pursuit of the game. For them the American Game Association issues a list of "Life Saving Cautions."

"Hundreds of people are killed or wounded each year, principally through their own carelessness. Many hunters kill or wound themselves in the pursuit of game," the association points out.

Edmonton, Sept. 12.—A new record flying record which will be held to be won by the speedy W. R. "Wop" May, Canadian Airways flier, last Tuesday, when he flew from Great Bear Lake to McMurray with a full complement of passengers in five hours and 57 minutes flying time.

May left Great Bear Lake at 10:45 a.m. and was at McMurray at 6:45 p.m. the same day, the total elapsed time for the flight being exactly eight hours, but two stops were made, at Fort Rae and Fort Chipewyan. DISCUSS CABINET REORGANIZATION

Prior to any reorganization of his cabinet, consequent upon the death of Hon. Vernon W. Smith, minister of railways and telephones, Premier J. E. Brownlee will call his legislative followers together and discuss the matter with them, he stated on Friday.

"I have deliberately held back any final action on cabinet reorganization—and so informed our members at the last gathering held here—until I could more definitely know what the conditions were likely to be this fall and winter and just as soon as I can after the rush of harvest is over I will call them together and place my recommendations before them," he said.

Washington, Sept. 12.—President Hoover announced Friday that "he would further to aid employment," he had instructed various government branches to speed up the federal construction program by almost $200,000,000.

SCIENCE FINDS NEW MERITS IN ALL-BRAN

Has "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation, and Iron for Blood

In the past ten years millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN the safe "cereal way" to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy, that so often result.

Behind this success is the proved effectiveness of ALL-BRAN. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to overcome common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as best liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much more pleasant it is to use this delicious cereal than to abuse your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just two tablespoons daily with milk or cream—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation—in serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

The figures for alcoholic deaths for 1930 have just been made public, showing the record of 3.5 in 100,000 of population in the U.S. This is the lowest rate since 1924. Prohibition has saved more lives in America in the past 11 years than can be claimed by any achievement of either medicine or science, more than the number of Americans who died in the World War from wounds and disease.

The average alcoholic death rate for the eight years preceding the war was 5.2 in 100,000, for the 11 years since prohibition 2.1. The average population during those years was 111,517,000, therefore deaths from alcoholism in the 11 years was 25,826.

Cirrhosis of the liver took an average of 12.3 in 100,000 in the eight years before the year. Since prohibition the rate has been 7.3, effecting a saving of 61,490 lives.

Bright's disease, 50 per cent or 60 per cent which was attributed to alcohol, has declined from 105.3 to 91.5 per 100,000. Credit only 30 per cent of this saving to the decreased consumption of alcohol, gives a little more than 60,000 lives saved, or an aggregate of these three causes alone of 127,316. The total number of Americans lost in the World War was 126,000, according to Government reports.

Opponents of the law decide many people by comparing dry years with dry years. Everyone must know that the only test that can reveal the failure or success of prohibition is to compare wet years with dry, and that shows a decline of 40 per cent in the alcoholic death rate under prohibition.

HOADLEY TELLS OF PLANS TO AID AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRY

Ways and means of putting the Canadian agricultural industry on a better footing will be under consideration in every province of the dominion for the next two months, with another inter-provincial conference for definite action thereon just before the winter fair in Toronto in November.

A committee of agricultural experts will be appointed in Alberta, as in the other provinces, to take up in detail the findings of the recent conference in Toronto, from which Hon. George Hoadley, Alberta minister of agriculture has just returned, bringing with him this news of proposed action in behalf of Canada's farms.

"Something greatly important and beneficial is likely to come of this move," says Mr. Hoadley. "So far as the machinery is concerned, the meeting just held has set up a working scheme which needs only to be set going and there should result a substantial improvement in the conditions that agriculture is now facing all over Canada."

Department officials, dominion agricultural officials, representatives of the railway companies and soldiers' settlement board, members of the university agricultural faculty, and other outstanding leaders interested in the question will compose the committee, which Mr. Hoadley says will be appointed and called together as quickly as possible. Its work will be to deal with the conclusions reached at the recent conference in Toronto, which each of the provincial ministers has taken back with him for that purpose. The joint findings of these provincial committees will then be reported for final action at the November meeting to be called by Hon. R. Weir, federal minister of agriculture.

It was for a general discussion of the question of co-ordinating agricultural services in Canada, with a view to eliminating overlapping and reducing expenditures, that the recent meeting in Toronto was called. For four days the ministers talked about such matters as bacon and beef production, dairy herd and poultry improvement, field crops, fruits and vegetables, insect pests, economics and publicity methods.

Committees met on these various questions and their findings are now to come before the provincial committees.

A national executive was formed, composed of the nine provincial ministers, with the federal minister as chairman and an advisory committee to this executive will comprise the deputy ministers of the dominion and the provinces, heads of agricultural and veterinary colleges, representatives of the research bodies, grain commissioners, railways and others.

The November meeting, Mr. Hoadley points out, will be on the verge of the various provincial legislative sessions, with their new budgets to the offering, and the time will therefore be opportune for giving effect to some new policy of agricultural administration.

"One of the things stressed at the conference," the minister adds, "was

LIBERAL RALLY OCTOBER 21

Edmonton, Sept. 10.—Fully 500 accredited delegates from all parts of the province are expected to be in attendance at the Liberal convention which will be held at the Macdonald hotel on Friday, Oct. 21, plans for which were made at a meeting of the executive of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association held in the Macdonald on Friday.

Extensive discussion revolved around the question of a resolutions committee to draft and submit resolutions to the convention upon which could be based a platform for consideration by the convention.

The two main items of business confronting the convention will be selection of a provincial party leader and the adoption of a new platform.

Liberals Postpone Nomination Meet at Camrose

The Liberal nominating convention announced for Thursday night in this town, was postponed because of inclement weather conditions which prevented delegates from the outlying points from attending. The date for the gathering was set back one week to Thursday Sept. 15th.

About 250 delegates from Camrose and the nearby points gathered and after the decision to postpone the nominations for a Liberal candidate in the provincial by-election for the constituency, they were addressed by W. R. Howson, M.L.A., and A. P. Mitchell, M.L.A.

Mr. Howson severely criticized the present provincial administration and promised there would be plenty of action in the coming by-election campaign on the part of the Liberal party.

He attacked the financial policy of the Brownlee government in bitter terms and declared the time had come for a change.

The pockets of the men and women of Alberta were being depleted to meet the interest charges on the public debt of Alberta, he said. He pointed out that since 1921 the interest charges on the public debt had risen from $1,800,000 to over $6,000,000 in 1931. Enormous interest costs have had to be increased under the Brownlee government, Mr. Howson declared, despite the fact that year after year the province's sources of revenue have been extended.

In 1921 the people of Alberta paid out $6,000,000 for the purposes of government, and in 1931 the sum had been increased to $12,740,000. The public debt had been more than doubled. In 1931 the per capita tax on every person in Alberta was $20, while in 1921 it was only $10. A family of five is now taxed $100 a year as against $50 a year then, he said.

Mr. Howson said the figures he was giving were those of the government itself.

He declared that attempt after attempt had been made in the legislature by Liberal members to keep down the expenditure and reckless extravagance of the Brownlee government, but the "legislation of the government had been steam-rollered by Premier Brownlee and his cabinet." He described the financial policies of the government as "an orgy of wild expenditures."

He thought that the farmers of Alberta had never been so badly represented in any government as they were in the present administration.

A. P. Mitchell, M.L.A., joined in the attack on the government, claiming that the administration building in Edmonton had been put on an expensive site in an extravagant manner.

"The bill for window-blinds alone for that building was $6,700," he said. They were brought from Chicago and they work out at the rate of $23 a blind. Apparently the government wanted good blinds so that no one could peek in to see what they were doing with the money of the people of Alberta and they didn't care how much they cost.

few weeks. The crowd accepted her as one of themselves. They liked, swam and played tennis. Opal Smith, it seemed, was an expert in all sports.

"Too bad, Opal," said Bill at the picnic that day, "that you're not the right Miss Smith. How's so crazy?"

"Shut up," commanded Howell, flushing a bit.

"But you know what you said, Howell," teased Don.

Howell turned hastily and began to play his banjo.

"Sing, something, Opal, with all your accomplishments, I'm sure you can sing, too."

She gave him a swift, startled glance, and murmured, "How can you want plain Miss Smith to sing when you've heard that other 'divine golden voice'?"

"Look here, I've never even seen her," he said shortly. "You'll be at the tea tomorrow?"

She nodded assent.

It was rumored that the Miss Smith would be at the charity tea, sponsored by patrons of music.

"Howell, all agog, was one of the first arrivals."

"That's her," whispered someone at the next table.

Howell looked up, but saw no one that he imagined might be her.

Then—

"Mr. Kent, have you met Miss Smith? Vancouver's famous little CKU singer?"

Howell rose, but saw no girl except Opal, his playfellow of the past few weeks. He gave her a puzzled glance but her eyes were twinkling.

Then all at once the truth dawned upon him.

She was Miss Smith!

His tanned face was suffused with color.

"You—," he began.

"Why not?" she answered flippantly.

"Young lady," he said grimly.

"We're going for a spin and you're going to do some explaining."

"Oh, the deceitfulness of women," murmured Don.

But Howell gave him a triumphant glance as he went out of the room with the right Miss Smith upon his arm.

If nobody smiled and nobody cheered, And nobody helped us along, If each minute looked after himself, And the good things all went to the strong;

If nobody cared just a little for you, And nobody thought about me; And we stood all alone in the battle of life,

What a dreary old world it would be.

Life is sweet just because of the friends we have made, And the things which in common we share,

We want to live on, not because of ourselves, But because of the people who care;

It's giving and doing for somebody else—

On that all life's splendor depends: And the joy of the world when it's all added up,

Is found in the making of friends.

CANADA IS MOST FORTUNATE COUNTRY

Did you ever remark in the long list of nations owning the United States over eleven billions of dollars of war debts the name of Canada does not appear?

Did it ever occur to you that for many years now Canada has been finding practically all its own money without asking outside assistance?

The truth is that Canada is one of the solid financial reservoirs of the world. We are exceedingly rich people.

We are the fifth trading nation in the world, and we have hardly launched in business yet — so undeveloped is Canada.

This country has absolutely nothing to worry about. The future can't help but be good to us. We have made money so fast that we became prodigal of it. As Premier Anderson, of Saskatchewan, expressed it: "This depression is a blessing in disguise." The little rap on the knuckles will do us good.

SWOLLEN TIRE TUBES ARE 23 FEET AROUND

To a layman, it would seem to be an excellent test of the quality of an inner tube if it could be blown up to an enormous size without suffering damage or popping off like a balloon. Oddly enough, this is a perfectly good, thoroughly scientific method of testing and widely used by laboratory experts. In one laboratory where much of the original Canadian research into tires and rubber products generally is carried on, tubes are regularly blown up to four times their normal size till they look like colossal jet black doughnuts. A typical test, for instance, is to take a stock tube 22 inches in diameter and fill it with air till it stands 7 feet, 4 inches high, overtopping the tallest men outside a circus. In this case, the circumference of the abnormal tubes is 23 feet.

Self-Sufficient Salads

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

During the middle ages, salads were just bits of lettuce or chicory dipped in salt and eaten only by the poorer classes of people. The rich were disdainful of "salads" because greens were so low in cost and so common. Only herbs and greens were used in them. It was not until the Seventeenth Century that fish, chicken and lobster were used and not until the Eighteenth Century that fruit was used. Gradually, almost all kinds of meats, fish, fruits and vegetables have been admitted to the ranks of the salads. Today we even use some of the foods high in starch, such as rice, macaroni and spaghetti, in combination with something crisp and tart. Furthermore, salads have changed their social position and have become a requisite of the complete meal for the millionaire, as well as for those of more meager means.

For luncheon, intelligent men and women often select a salad, a beverage, some form of bread, and occasionally a dessert. You can see evidences of this choice in any restaurant or cafeteria, in the house or in the apartment. A salad has become almost an institution, especially with North American people.

The Ancients had more leisure time than we busy bodies of today and they could well afford to linger over a meal and to eat from many dishes. We want food in an easily accessible form; we want it appealing to the eye and palate, nourishing and capable of being eaten quickly. Thus "self-sufficient salads" or whole-meal salads are very popular because, if correctly prepared, they have all of these characteristics.

The following combinations for luncheon leave the consumer satisfied and nourished:

1.—Macaroni salad*, All-bran muffins, butter, blackberries, tea or milk.

2.—Salmon salad*, corn bread sticks, caramel custard, caffeine-free coffee.

3.—Pineapple and cheese salad, nut bread sandwich, coconut cake, tea or milk.

4.—Tuna salad* served on rolls, berries and cream, beverage.

*Salmon salad—2 cups cooked or flaked salmon, ½ cup stuffed olives, 1 cup diced cucumbers, 2 cups diced celery, 4 hard cooked eggs, diced. Mix all ingredients together with any desired dressing. Serves 6 to 8.

*Tuna Salad—1 cup canned or flaked tuna fish, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced celery, 3 hard cooked eggs, diced, 8 long slender rolls. Mix tuna, cabbage, celery and eggs lightly together with Russian mayonnaise. Place mixture in rolls which have been split on top the long way and the centers cut out. Serves 8.

Macaroni Salad—2 cups cooked macaroni (rinsed and drained), 1 cup finely diced cheese, ½ cup sliced stuffed olives, ½ cup diced celery, 1 small onion chopped fine, 2 hard cooked eggs, 2 tomatoes, quartered. Mix the macaroni (tiny rings are effective) with the cheese, olives, celery and the onion. Moistened with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce, garnished with the quarters of hard cooked eggs and tomatoes.

The Right Miss Smith

"What are you boys disputing about?" asked Bill Matrin as he strode into the Country Club lounge.

"Oh, about the girl with the golden voice, Miss Smith, the new CKU radio singer, you know. Don's just wild about her."

"Huh," grinned Don, "You should have heard Howell rave about her a minute ago. My dear, she's just divine" and he rolled his eyes in imitation of two giggling girls near by.

"You fellows haven't even seen her. She may be plain Miss Smith, fat and forty."

"Not on your life," asserted Howell, "With a voice like that she couldn't be anything less than an angel, and when I capture that young songstress, why you boys just naturally step aside, see?"

"Boys, may I introduce you to Miss Smith?" said old Dr. Adams as he stepped out from behind an alcove.

"Gosh," thought Howell in a panic, "what if she heard us!"

Pretty Miss Smith smiled in acknowledgment.

"You aren't by any chance," began Howell, "the Miss Smith?"

"I don't quite understand—"

"I mean the new CKU Smith."

There was a twinkle in her eye as she answered demurely, "I might be just any Miss Smith. All who own that name haven't the luck to be famous, you know."

Even though she wasn't the right Miss Smith she was a jolly good playfellow to Howell Kent the next

BEING TREATED LIKE BABIES

Winnipeg, Sept. 11.—"We're being treated like babies," is the cry among 1,400 students at Kalvin High School here. "Blue law" innovations introduced with the opening of the school term have hurt the dignity of the pupils.

"Think of it," one of the students said today, "boys and girls, some of them 17 or 18, are not allowed to talk to one another in the halls. We must come into school through separate entrances and go out the same way, even though it may be more convenient for us to use one entrance rather than another."

Parking of students cars in the block around the school is prohibited. In the school is a canteen operated by the blind. Sale of chewing gum and pop to the students is now forbidden, although the canteen can still sell hot dogs, tea and chocolate bars.

What the students object to, particularly, is having to trail in single file from one classroom to another, and reminiscent of their public school days, at 4 o'clock the boys and girls are required to march out of classes in line, which must be kept intact until out of the building. Finally, word has gone out that no dances will be permitted at Kelvin this fall or winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott and family, accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Brinker and Grandma Kinchella, motored to Wetaskiwin on Sunday to visit at the home of Mrs. Mary Morrison.

Mr. Mitchell made a motor trip through the districts of Camrose, Vermilion, Meeting Creek, Bashaw, Bawlf and Daysland, reporting the farmers busy threshing, yield real good and grading better than for several years.

The U.P.W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter Woods on Sept. 22nd. Roll call "Believe it or not." Demonstration of wool cushions by Mrs. Easterbrook. Don't forget your yarn and medium sized bone crochet hook. Anyone interested in this work entirely welcome.

ALBERTA PRODUCES GOOD MERINO WOOL

Edmonton, Sept. 10.—That merino wool produced in Edmonton district is suitable for blankets, suitings and other domestic materials, has been proved by a mill in Chesley, Ont., and the samples of goods manufactured from local wools may be inspected at the Exhibition Association offices.

So attractive did they prove to members of the Alberta provincial sheep breeders' association, that 57 members consigned 13,200 pounds of wool along with their market sheep, to be made at Chesley, into blankets, auto robes, yarns, work pants, horse blankets, etc.

The association shipped its fourth and last car of the season this week to the Co-operative Wool Growers, making a total of 90,329 pounds to date for 117 members as compared with 135,318 pounds for 299 members last year.

BE READY!

Though business right now may be just a bit slack,

The days of good business are sure to come back.

But whining and growling at things that are wrong,

And spreading dark rumours, won't help things along.

It's no time for quitters whose courage is slight,

But action is needed—and fighters who'll fight.

And those who are twiddling their thumbs while they wait

For times to get better—will lose—sure as Fate!

"Arithmetic is a science of truth," said the professor earnestly. "Figures can't lie. For instance if one man can build a house in 12 days, 12 men can build it in one."

"Yes," interrupted a quick-brained student. "Then 888 will build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,368,000 in one second. And I don't believe they could lay a brick in the time!"

While the professor was still gasping, the smart "ready-reckoner" went on—

"Again, if one ship can cross the ocean in six days, six ships can cross it in one day. I don't believe that either, so where's the truth in arithmetic?"

One of the most striking landmarks in the world will be the immense statue of Christ, which is being erected at a cost of $125,000, on a spot overlooking Kingstown harbor, Dublin. The statue, which will be 140 feet high, will be floodlit at night and visible to sailors eight miles out at sea. It will take the architect and sculptor two years to complete, but in the meantime a concrete replica has been erected on the site, so that visitors can see what the statue will be like.

Seventy-seven per cent of wheat and 63 per cent of barley in the three western provinces were harvested by September 3, according to the report issued on that date from the general agricultural department, Canadian Pacific Railway, Winnipeg. This result was reached in spite of the halt in harvesting operations due to heavy rains in wide sections of the Prairie Provinces.

All records for the story of the "old one that got away" were broken recently when a well-known fisherman hooked a heaver in Vermilion Lakes and played it for five minutes after which the tradition was fulfilled with loss of fly and leader. The hero of the exploit was S. C. Bennett, of Toronto, a guest at the Banff Springs Hotel.

Canadians got a thrill recently when Captain J. A. Morrison, in command of the Canadian Pacific Railway B. C. Coast steamship fleet has been scrapped and is now in the limbo of departed ships. Official and unofficial delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference went sightseeing from August 12th to the 14th. Two tours from Ottawa were arranged, both leaving the capital in special Canadian Pacific trains late Friday night, August 12. Shawinigan Falls and Three Rivers were visited by one party, while the other members were cruising down the St. Lawrence from Kingston to Montreal and spending Saturday evening in the metropolis. None of the United Kingdom, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand or Newfoundland or Irish government ministers were able to absent themselves from Conference deliberations, but their delegations were well-represented. Ministers enjoying the trips were Hon. C. D. Howe and Hon. A. P. J. Poirie, South Africa, and Hon. H. W. Moffatt, Southern Rhodesia. The Canada Government was represented by Hon. Arthur Sauve and Hon. Maurice Dupre, with the Shawinigan party, and Hon. Alfred Durneau and Hon. H. A. Stewart, with the other party.

Fire in the dominion causes an average annual loss of 300 lives and insurable property worth $45,000,000, which waste the proclamation states, "cannot be re-created." NEW PAINT SEEMS UNCANNY

How hot a kettle is at any moment can be told by the color of a paint which has just been invented. A kettle painted with the new material, which is a mixture of salts of mercury and copper, looks bright red when cold, but as it warms up above 140 degrees it becomes maroon colored. At 200 degrees higher it takes on a dull chocolate hue, and at boiling point it is quite black. Cooling brings its color back.

A careful observer, after attending one of the dances in a neighboring town, wrote the following poem on his observations:

Finding 17 persons not entitled to vote had done so in the Estevan constituency during the provincial election of 1930, Chief Justice Sir Frederick Haultain in a judgment handed down, declared the election void and Norman McLeod, Liberal member, not properly elected. A novel method of washing locomotives has been adopted by the Canadian National Railways. Instead of being washed by hand, the engines are passed through and under a hoop-like washing frame fitted with spray nozzles. As this is reached the front wheels of an engine close an electrical circuit that turns on hot water sprays having a pressure of 140 pounds to the square inch. When the engine and tender have slowly passed through the frame the rear wheels break the circuit and the water flow ceases. A cleaning compound mixed with the spraying water dissolves oil and grease and leaves on the washed surface a film of wax which renovates the paint work and discourages rust.

LET PEOPLE KNOW

Reader—If you find The Times bright and interesting, remember that you can make it even more attractive if you mail or telephone the editor all the personal items you can think of. Have your visitors at your home? Are your neighbors entertaining guests? Have any members of your family gone away on a trip? Are your friends out of town? Do you know of new residents coming here to settle? Have you hidden good-bye to Wetaskiwin who are to make their homes elsewhere? Let The Times know.

Things looked very busy at the offices of Messrs. Solomon & Cohen. For three days the partners had been poring over books and feverishly adding up columns of figures. Then at the end of it all, a wall of despair escaped the lips of Mr. Solomon. "Ach, Cohen," he cried, "vot a vaste, vot a vaste! Ve have given the bookkeeper a week's holiday, and his books vas right after all!"

A conference of farmers and threshermen was held in Vulcan recently on the subject of wages and charges in connection with harvest operations. Wages per day for stooking were set at $1.50 per day, and for threshing help $2 per day. Charge for combining was placed at $1.75 per acre on summerfallow and $1.40 on stubble. Charge for threshing was placed at seven cents per bushel.

Glancing cautiously around, Tompkins dropped one of his gloves on top of a quarter he had noticed on the floor of the hardware store. Then he picked up his glove but the coin did not come with it. Then he made another attempt, when the storekeeper approached. "Good morning," he beamed. "Let me show you a bottle of our famous glue. I believe you are already acquainted with its sticking powers!"

Housekeeping accounts on an Ohio farm indicate that a farm family of five people spends about the same money for food that a bachelor does in the city.

Mother: Bobby, did you do anything besides eat at the Sunday school picnic?
Bobbie: Yes, mummy, we sang a hymn called "We Can Sing, Full Though We Be."
Inquiries revealed that the title of the hymn was "Weak and Sinful Though We Be."

No change is to be made in the size of Canadian one dollar bills, the finance department stated recently. Recent rumor said the Canadian bill would be cut down in size, much after the style of the smaller United States bills.
